the nearby shop Nomad, which is one of the few remaining sources for genuine ethnographic items and handcrafted goods and jewelry. There are a number of dining options for you to enjoy at your leisure. Join fellow adventurers in the gardens for an optional nightcap.

Day Two, Thursday, December 12: The Pyramids

After a sumptuous breakfast, visit the sole survivor of the traditional Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. The Great Pyramid stood almost 500 feet high when it was completed around 2550 BCE. A highlight is the Giza Solar Boat Museum where we will explore the intricacies of Khufu's ship, an essentially intact vessel from the middle of the third millennium BCE. Our visit in Giza would not be complete without viewing the Sphinx, standing guard over the pyramids. In the afternoon, take a break at Café Riche, famous for being the haunt of 20th century literati. Afterwards, stop into the Egyptian Museum to view the treasures of King Tutankhamen's tomb. We will stretch our legs in the famous souq, Khan El-Khalili where we will visit the last genuine fez maker in Egypt. In the evening, transfer to the airfield for the short flight to Luxor where we will spend the night at the Winter Palace Hotel. Meet in the bar for an optional late night drink and realize how this was the hot spot for Egyptology in the 1920s.

Day Three, Friday, December 13: The West Bank of the Nile

This morning, we'll cross the Nile from the Winter Palace and visit "The Place of Truth." This is the ancient name of Deir el-Medina, the Valley of the Artisans whose workers built and maintained the Valley of the Kings and the Valley of the Queens. This UNESCO World Heritage site is an extraordinary window into the past with paintings and carvings providing stunning tableaux of life as an ancient Egyptian. Some argue that the artisans saved their best work for themselves. Time permitting, we will visit the Temple of Ramesses III at Medinet Habu, one of the best preserved from the New Kingdom, which displays important military reliefs and religious compositions.

Afterwards, join fellow adventurers for an optional lunch at the Winter Palace. Relax in the gardens, arguably the most beautiful in Egypt. This is where kings and presidents, writers and explorers spent time while in Luxor. This was also the de facto headquarters of archeologist Howard Carter and his patron, Lord Carnarvon. Their ghosts roam the gardens.... In the afternoon, board the Steamship SUDAN and settle into your unique Edwardian cabin or suite. Tea will be served. Join your fellow adventurers at the welcome dinner in the SUDAN's sumptuous dining room.

Included Meals: Afternoon Tea, Welcome Dinner

Meals on your own: Lunch

Day Five, Sunday, December 15:

The Valley of the Kings and the Mortuary Temple of Hatshepsut

Today, we will get an early start. Crossing the Nile, we will start our exploration with the Theban Necropolis at the Valley of the Kings, the burial site of the major rulers of the New Kingdom Egypt. Here incomparable tomb paintings decorate the passages and chambers of the pharaohs. After the discovery of King Tut's tomb and the resulting Egyptomania, the Valley became the most famous archeological site in the world. Nearby, we will visit the Mortuary Temple of Hatshepsut, considered one of the incomparable monuments in Egypt. With towering cliffs serving as a backdrop, the temple boasts long ramps connecting colonnaded terraces. Inside, a relief sculpture depicts the divine birth of a female pharaoh. Back on board SUDAN, a well-deserved lunch awaits. The afternoon will be at leisure as we bid Luxor farewell and steam southward, sipping chilled white wine on deck. Today, we will have an opportunity to learn about the engineering of the Steamship SUDAN. Built in the teens, she is the last authentic Belle Epoque paddle steamer. Her broad teak decks, brassware, and wood paneling are the stuff of romantic stories. The gangways exude a sweet aroma of beeswax; the woven rattan furniture on the deck provides the perfect place to daydream as you watch the desert palms glide past. Dinner will be served before we pass through the fascinating Esna lock. Watch the stars appear as SUDAN steams through the night to Edfu.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Afternoon Tea, Dinner

Day Six, Monday, December 16: Edfu – Kom Ombo

After breakfast this morning, visit the Temple of Edfu, one of the best-preserved buildings from ancient Egypt. Built in honor of the falcon-headed cosmic deity Horus, the temple lay partially buried under a protective covering of debris and sand until French Egyptologist Auguste Mariette cleared the structure in the 1860s. Back on board, lunch awaits. Relax on the upper deck in the afternoon as we steam deeper into the heart of Upper Egypt. As tea is served, we will pass Gebel Silsila, one of the largest quarries of the ancient world and site of important shrines and stelae relating to the Nile flood and associated nautical festivals. Take in the relaxing rhythm of the voyage, as we continue our journey to the pillars of the temple at Kom Ombo on the banks of the Nile. Dedicated to Sobek, the crocodile god, the surviving temple dates back to ca. 180 BCE during the Ptolemaic era with later Roman additions. Dinner is served onboard SUDAN.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Afternoon Tea, Dinner

O/N: On board Steamship SUDAN

Day Seven, Tuesday, December 17: Aswan

This morning, SUDAN steams to Aswan at the frontier of traditional Egypt, where ancient Nubia begins. The mighty desert slowly replaces cultivated land as we proceed up the Nile. It is easy to see that this is where pharaonic civilization once ended. The lands above the great cataracts nourished the Nile Valley with mineral-rich silt during the floods. Nubia also provided Egypt with gold, precious woods and ivory, as well as soldiers for its military machine. In the afternoon, journey to the temple of Isis, once located on the island of Philae, and moved in the 1960s to the island of Agilka when the Aswan High Dam was constructed.

Enjoy some free time on deck before the farewell dinner on board SUDAN.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Afternoon Tea, Dinner
